STORIES AND STORYTELLING IN THEORY AND PRACTICE

Narrative Didactics ist a research group at the Center for Inter-American Studies at the University of Graz, Austria.

We research and disseminate innovative approaches and methods for primary, secondary and tertiary education based on stories or narrative elements.

Members of the research group are active in the Austrian school system, at teacher training colleges as well as universities.

TRAINING COURSES

DIGITAL STORYTELLING

Everyone has a story to tell. Digital storytelling is a method in which a person tells a personal story by reflecting one aspect of their life in form of an audio narration with added media elements.

CREATIVE WAYS TO ENCOURAGE READING IN GRADES 5-8

Extensive reading is increasingly receiving more attention in curricula. We present methods and tools to motivate students in grades 5-8 to read more and longer.

LITERATURE ENACTMENT

The Literature-Enactment-Process (LEP) is a method that asks students to actively engage with lifeworld issues such as deforestation using drama methods.

NARRATIVE VIDEOGAMES

Playing and learning are closely related. We present videogames and game-based learning approaches that tap into the power of videogames for language teaching.

TECHNOLOGY-ENHANCED LANGUAGE LEARNING

We offer workshops on various selected digital apps that can be used by teachers and lecturers in various meaningful ways. For every app, sample outputs and teaching materials are presented. Apps may be used for creating digital magazines, virtual presentations, and much more.
